

Evening during dinner is family time, and our family does not appreciate receiving calls at that time (or any other time, for that matter). We make it a policy of never buying over the telephone unless we initiate the call. Please add my name to the list of those who do not want telemarketing calls.